Real Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

That lawsuit that we supposed was commenced for a joke has really turned out to be a fact. The lady on North Topeka avenue still persists in claiming damages against the Manhattan shoe store for selling her shoes she claims were too narrow. What the result of the suit will be is a question. The Manhattan shoe store is selling narrow shoes; all fine shoes in narrow widths, A, B and C last. Also the front lace are stylish and nobby; also the laces in narrow widths; a full line of narrow shoes for children, also for girls; elegant shoes in narrow widths in patent leather, in kangaroo, and French calf in congress and lace, at Manhattan shoe store, 320 E. Douglas avenue. d38 4t

WORK OF TEACHERS

Conferences and Conventions All Over the United States.

Forty Educational Parliaments.—What Will Be Said and Done by Scholars and Teachers in Educational, Economic, Scientific and Religious Fields.

UMMER this year will be signalized by the sessions and convocations of schools and by the special sessions of religious bodies as no summer has yet been signalized. The men of prominence who are to participate in these proceedings include all who have achieved anything like a position as educators and the places of meeting are the spots made notable by such gatherings in the past, except that the old ground, Chautauqua, will have no less than twenty rivals for favor of the sort which heretofore has pertained to it exclusively. The many conferences to come are moreover national in scope. The delegates to them will represent every state in the union and the accepted invitations include the archbishop of New York, the vice president of the United States and the governors of twelve states.

The first of these affairs in importance and in point of time is what has been styled the Pilgrimage to Philadelphia, undertaken under the auspices of the University Extension society. It is to be an unusually representative gathering of educators from all over the country, thanks to the adequate preparations long making by Lyman Powell, and is to extend from this month until the end of next. The most eminent lecturers on the subjects of political economy, history, literature and science have promised to attend, but the value of the conference is in the fact that it is the inauguration of a pilgrimage to extend ten days and to be along the route of Washington's famous itinerary. At the end of the educational meetings, on July 23, the pilgrims will assemble in Independence hall in Philadelphia.

The summer will also witness the great convention of instructors. The vacation has ever been planned: Chautauqua as usual will prepare for a mammoth assembly of persons for the coming summer course, and it is not necessary to say more than that these courses include addresses and lectures by Prof. Moulton of Cambridge; Theodore Roosevelt, President Harper, of Chicago university; Prof. Herbert Adams, of the Johns Hopkins; Prof. Franklin Hooper and others. Single addresses are to be made by Hon. Carroll D. Wright, Dr. E. E. Hale, Lady Henry Somerset, Prof. Von Holst and many others.

An imposing summer session is the one scheduled for July 12 to August 15, at Plymouth, Mass. It is the session of the school of applied ethics, one of the few summer educational institutions in the country which bring students from Europe and South America. Every university in the country and numerous colleges will be represented. Dr. Felix Adler, of New York, is to act as dean. A special feature of the session to come is the attention it is proposed to pay to labor questions.

The east, however, is not by any means to have a monopoly of the summer sessions of these convocations and schools. The Bay View Summer university, at Bay View, Mich., convenes from July 15 to August 15, with the governors of four western states among the lecturers; the Colorado Summer school at Colorado Springs, Col., from July 15 to August 4, is to be honored with the presidency of Gov. Waite. Then there is the Monona Lake, Wis., summer school, which is the Chautauqua of the west. The Virginia summer school of methods is to be in session nearly all of July at Bedford City, Va., while in Canada there is the Ottawa Chautauqua assembly, which will be open a good part of the summer.

It is not generally known yet that the leading universities of the country will this year have special summer schools and to some extent assemblies of leading educators from all over the republic. At Harvard, men and women both will be admitted on equal terms to all the courses, which embrace languages, history, psychology and all the leading branches of knowledge. Summer schools will also convene at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, at the University of Chicago, at the University of Michigan and at those of Minnesota, Indiana, Virginia, and others.

The summer will also witness the great convention of instructors. The President Dallantyne, of Oberlin, on "How it Appears to a Congregationalist," and Dr. Tyler, of New York, on "How it Appears to a Disciple of Christ."

In the early part of July there also convenes at Grinnell, Ia., the summer school of applied Christianity, which will call together a body of men famous as pulpit orators all over the country. This body concerns itself with social problems on the lines laid down in the Gospel, and Prof. R. T. Ely is to take a prominent part in the proceedings. The heads of four theological seminaries will be in attendance.

The Catholic summer school is already one of the powers in this same line, although it is one of the youngest of them all. It opens at Plattsburg, N. Y., this year from July 15 to August 6. Rev. Thomas McMillan, of New York, is chairman of the board of studies and Bishop Spaulding will deliver the opening address. Among the lecturers are to be Richard Malcolm Johnston, George Parsons Lathrop and Hon. W. C. Robinson. Leading members of the hierarchy will be present from day to day.

When the thirty thousand members of the Christian Endeavor society who have agreed to attend the convention of the body at Cleveland, O., from July 11 to 15, assemble there, it is pretty certain that their members will be far above that total. Gov. McKinley will welcome them to the city and the usual prominent supporters of the movement will be present to speak and preside. The total membership of the society is over a million and three quarters scattered all over the world, and hence it is very probable that the thirty thousand now expected will swell to as much again. While they are in session the Baptist Young People's union will gather at Toronto, although the formal date for that convention has been fixed for July 19 to 22.

It is only possible now to take a rapid survey of the rest of this field of endeavor. The American Association for the Advancement of Science meets in Brooklyn, N. Y., August 6 to 23, with President Dana, of Boston, at the head of affairs. The Geological Society of America also holds its summer convention in this same city. The American Historical association celebrates its biennial at Saratoga, next September, and at the same place meets the American Bar association, in August.

Lincoln LAUGHED.

An Amusing Incident of Old Abe's First Candidacy.

W. W. Danenhower, the father of Lieut. Danenhower, of Arctic fame, who died the other day, up to the day of his death preserved in a little glass-covered frame a brief note, written to him by Lincoln on the day of his first inauguration, March 4, 1861. Danenhower, who was a close friend of Lincoln, had called to see him that morning, and had been refused admittance. The president, hearing of it, in spite of his many cares took time to pen a note of apology, telling his friend not to think he was "putting on airs" because he was "in the white house," and asking him to call again and he would see that he was admitted. Danenhower was the first to announce to Lincoln the decision of the national convention committee of conference to recommend Lincoln to the national convention. Lincoln's look of surprise, he said, was genuine. He laughed, a deep, hearty laugh, and dropping his hands and removing his legs from a table before which he was seated, he arose and paced the room, saying: "Why, Danenhower, this shows how political parties are degenerating. You and I can remember when we thought no one was fit for the presidency but Harry Clay. Now you are seriously considering me for the position. It's absurd."—Philadelphia Record.

Called Long for Short.

A young man who had not been in this country very long applied for work in a manufactory in a certain city. He was a skilled mechanic and was given employment. The cashier, with his eye on the pay-roll, asked the man what was his name. The foreigner speaks and understands English to some extent. He told the cashier his name and the cashier nearly fainted. It was one of those curious ten-syllable names which could never be pronounced by anyone except the owner, after weeks of practice. "Long, isn't it?" gasped the cashier. "Yes, yes," said the man, smiling and showing his teeth. "Long." He understood from the cashier's remark that his name, converted into English, was Long, and so he has continued to call himself Mr. Long.—Golden Days.

Anxious for Action.

First Boy.—If you don't shut up, I'll lick you.
Second Boy.—If you think you can lick me, just come on and try it. You needn't stand there jawin' like a professional pugilist.—Good News.

Charge Sustained.

Charles Sorreltop.—Raw Joe, I believe you married me for my money. Mrs. Sorreltop.—My dear look in the glass and ask yourself if I could ever have married you for anything else.—Chicago Tribune.

Persistent.

Hills.—How is Browne making out as an amateur photographer?
Hulls.—About one hundred dollars out, but he is going to keep on until he makes one picture that will be recognizable.—N. Y. World.

Trying to Escape.

Mr. Dunn (angrily).—This bill has been running three years.
Hardy (up).—What else could you expect of it? You've been chasing it for two years and eleven months.—Puck.

Wanted a Change.

Little Dot.—Oh, I'd give anything if I was old enough to have a husband.
Mamma.—Mercy me! Why?
Little Dot.—I'm so tired of being petted.—Good News.

An Easy Question.

A little Austin boy, whose impetuous parents are always moving from one house to another, was asked by his Sunday school teacher: "Why did the Israelites move out of Egypt?"
"Because they couldn't pay their rent,"—Alex. Smith, in Texas Sit.
